

FROM PASTA TO POP ART

WELCOME TO “FROM PASTA TO POP ART”

An exclusive art series by Corksy that transforms Italy’s most iconic ingredient into an explosion of surrealism. This vibrant collection reimagines the Tuscan landscape using hand-colored pasta to create flowing hills, abstract trees, and whimsical skies.

Each piece is a chapter in a larger story — connecting to the Corksy Lounge video series and extending across merchandise, music, and mythology. These handcrafted one-of-one artworks are sealed in crystal-clear epoxy on MDF boards and framed in custom aluminum, creating an immersive visual experience that bridges culinary nostalgia with contemporary pop art.

CONCEPT & ARTISTIC VISION

The "From Pasta to Pop Art" series represents Corksy's transition from digital abstraction to tangible artisan expression. Each illustration twists tradition into playful visual storytelling, with pasta-inspired elements forming dreamlike compositions. The collection features surreal landscapes where fusilli hills, spaghetti skies, and ravioli suns come together in a colorful explosion of creativity.

This art series is both a sub-series of the "Uncorked in Tuscany" collection and a standalone category for collectors. Every piece is connected to the Corksy Lounge video experience, making each swirl and stroke part of a larger ecosystem spanning various media formats.

ARTISTIC APPROACH

Transformation of traditional Italian culture into playful surrealism using vibrant pop-art colors to reinterpret natural elements through pasta forms.

EXPERIMENTATION

Sketching and compositing inspired by dream logic and folk symbolism, with digital preparation converted into CMYK prints to preserve vibrancy.

PASTA AS MEDIUM

Shapes like fusilli, tagliatelle, and gnocchi inspire entire visual flows, with some pieces even considering real dyed pasta as early prototypes.

The collection isn't just decorative wall art—it's a blend of culinary nostalgia, Tuscan identity, and contemporary pop art. From pasta noodles to brushstroke-like textures, each piece tells the story of Corksy's playful yet refined worldview, creating a unique visual language that's immediately recognizable and distinctly Italian in its inspiration.

PRODUCTION PROCESS & MATERIALS

1 DESIGN SELECTION

Based on the existing 13 illustrations featured on ArtHeroes, each design begins with bold sketches and dreamlike compositions.

2 MATERIAL PREPARATION

Pasta is dyed with natural & food-safe vivid colors, then the composition is glued and fixed on an MDF base chosen for its rich texture and durability.

3 EPOXY FINISH

Multiple layers of clear epoxy coating are applied, with a final layer creating a glass-like shine and preservation, giving each piece a glossy, immersive finish.

4 FRAMING

A custom aluminum edge frames the artwork, complemented by a hand-mounted Corksy limited-edition logo plate stamped into brushed aluminum.

5 PACKAGING & CERTIFICATION

Each piece is numbered and comes with an authenticity card and careful packaging for worldwide shipping. Collectors also receive a high-resolution digital version for archival use and a Corksy key hanger — a token from the ecosystem. A fully documented prototype will showcase the physical version with photos and process videos for launch.

The production process transforms digital designs into tangible art pieces through meticulous craftsmanship. Every collector receives an official certificate of authenticity, a Corksy key hanger as a token of the ecosystem, and a high-resolution digital print of the artwork for personal archival or display. The launch plan includes creating one fully documented prototype to showcase the real result, with photography and process video content captured for marketing purposes.
